230 range

230 range, design: Andreas Störiko

The 230 range expresses an exceptional approach in a changing work environment. The materials used to make it are reduced to the max and the range offers superb comfort, ease of use and an airy, lightweight appearance. Thanks to their stylish aesthetic, the materials used in the chairs and tables make the furniture almost fade into the background, therefore maintaining the architectural ambience even when the space contains lots of furniture. As a result, designer Andreas Störiko has created a new standard in furniture above and beyond traditional office and conference environments.

Whether people are waiting around, holding conferences, having something to eat or drink, or just meeting up for a casual chat: the 230 furniture range looks good anywhere – and can be stowed away in no time if required.

230 range multipurpose chairs' breathable high-tech covers adapt to different body shapes and allow people to sit back and relax while following discussions or presentations.

Thanks to their open-pore mesh covers on the backrest and seat, 230 range chairs are acoustically neutral. This makes them the number one choice in multipurpose function rooms.

A range for any backdrop: 230 range tables are ideal as generous-sized conference tables, cafeteria or seminar tables, or even compact desks.

Top marks for practicality: the square and round bar-height tables are optionally available with slots in the table top, allowing space-saving stacking of up to three bar-height tables.

The seat and backrest frames of the 230 S models aren't covered with transparent fabric but with stretchy, slatted membranes to make them especially easy to keep clean in cafeterias.

Functions

Exclusively for black seat and backrest frames: the two-tone mesh covers in silver-black and copper-black enhance the interior design options by offering nuanced material and color concepts. For even more comfort and choices of material and color: the task chairs' seats optionally come with textile cushioning with high-quality stitched fluting.

The chairs' light weight allows easy form-fit stacking of up to 15, and with a stacking trolley of even up to 20 chairs with or without armrests, with just  $\frac{3}{4}$ " per chair added to the overall height of the chairs stacked. The backrest edge acts as a handle, side slots in the seat frame make the chairs easy to pull forward and remove from the stack.

Useful accessories for large events: the easy-to-slot-on clips with row or seat numbering. The inline connector, available as an accessory for the multipurpose chair, is child's play to use. It automatically snaps back and is made of shot-blasted, matte chrome-plated flat steel: just fold it out, clip into the next chair and you're done!

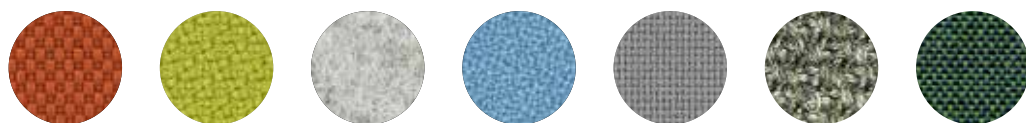

The special glides on the inline connector are equally clever and allow models without armrests or alternately with armrests to be positioned and joined together – without any loose parts or any adverse effect on the chairs' stacking capabilities.
